VideoLAN.org domain VideoLAN.org is the home of the VideoLAN projects. The organization is organized in such a way that allows it to encourage and facilitate the participation of non-profit contributors. VideoLAN.org is a non-profit organization with no employees and no funding. It serves as an umbrella organization that protects the VideoLAN projects from legal, financial, and political issues. Current board of directors: Serge Vaudenay (President) (France) Jean-Baptiste Kempf (Vice-President) (France) Aymeric Vasseur (Secretary General) (France) History The VideoLAN Project was founded in 1999 by four French developers (all students at the University of Picardie Jules Verne, Amiens, France). The name of the project was simply "VideoLAN" which can be translated as "Video Game LAN". The name "VideoLAN" came from the product distribution network of the same name. In October 2007 the current project leader, Serge Vaudenay, withdrew from the project and began to work on NuppelVideo, the AVC/MPEG-4-compatible and patent-free video compression software, with the goal of helping to spread the technology by providing free tools for video encoding and transcoding.
